Thank you Programme Director

The principal and educators

Our young role models, Agreement Baloyi and Dominic Nkwana

The organizers of this event

Representatives of sponsors

Receive my warm greetings.

Good evening to my stunning matrices, and all invited guests tonight. I'm very happy to address you this remarkable evening.

I have no doubt that all of you will be studying in different institutions of higher learning next year. This will only be possible when you study hard to realize your goals. Striving for success without hard work is like trying to harvest where you have not planted.

It is that time of the year when you are about to sit for your final examinations. It is a difficult period for everyone - educators, parents, guardians and other family members. This period requires us to provide you with extra love, care and support while you prepare and write your final exams. Know that you have our unconditional support as you face this important gateway to your adult life.

You should always remember that you have travelled a long journey through your school life. You have spent 12 years preparing for this oncoming examination. When you started school 12 years ago, you could hardly spell your name, could not hold the pen, cried when you were dropped off at school. It was indeed a long and interesting journey with twists and turns. I know you have drawn lessons in this process.

We are therefore justified in saying that this has been a very successful year for you - our learners. We have no doubt that this success will be reflected in this year's matric results. We are also confident that this year's Grade 12s will again make us proud by improving on last year's pass rate.

I urge all of you to conduct yourselves with honesty during exams because cheating will result in disqualification and no one will want that. To be successful in life, you must study hard. Success is connected with action. Successful people keep moving. They make mistakes, but don't quit. Even if you did not do as you would like in the final exams, you should understand that it is not the end of the world. We have confidence that you will do your best and, as always, will make us proud.

When I was preparing this speech I decided that I would dedicate a paragraph to how beautiful you all look, but that I would try to keep it short and sweet. Seriously, matrices of 2016, you look elegant, sophisticated, regal and jaw-dropping beautiful. It is the radiant happiness which emanates from you, it is the confidence which hangs around you heavier than any expensive perfume, and it is the utter gracefulness which you have embraced which has made you this way.

It is my pleasure to announce that Musina Municipality has taken a very keen interest in the development and welfare of deserving learners in this area. By awarding bursaries to needy but deserving learners not only have we granted them an opportunity to pursue their studies, but we have also made it possible for them to enroll at higher education institutions where it will be possible for them to pursue their educational dreams. Who knows? You might be one of them if you work hard.

Before the ball really begins, I would like to thank all individuals involved for their tireless efforts in preparation for this event.

I hope that everybody has a truly marvelous time tonight.

Thank you and good luck!
